March 2012

Dear Applicant

Post – Teacher: Humanities

This post comes at an exciting time for the school as it moves into its fourth year from a girls’ to a co-educational school.

In our commitment to do the best for all young people, we are seeking an enthusiastic and highly effective professional. The successful applicant will have the skills and enthusiasm to work in collaboration across the curriculum innovatively and effectively, to realise the school’s commitment that all students can achieve to the highest standard both in Humanities and across the school.

You will be joining a school where learning strategies for staff and students, commitment to supporting pedagogical research and development, are central. As the successful applicant you will become a member of a cohesive team of keenly committed and supportive staff.

The school has an innovative approach to the curriculum; a nine day timetable with each 10th day as a timetabled Deep Learning Day enables Curriculum Areas to plan learning activities effectively around the learner to maximise progress and engagement.

Regents Park is a member of the Regents Park Family of Schools working collaboratively why our primary schools; the successful candidate may have the opportunity to teach across KS2 to KS4 as part of the development of this collaborative working.

I hope you enjoy finding out about Regents Park Community College and look forward to receiving your completed application form by noon Thursday 15th March 2012.

Applications may be returned as an email attachment; applicants attending interview will be required to sign their completed application forms prior to interview.

Please telephone the school, 02380 325444, to speak with Mrs Rachel Clark, Assistant Headteacher, if you wish to discuss any aspect of the post prior to application.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely

J Archibald (Mr)
